PA NEW OBSERVES

When something goes wrong with a letter or two in an electric sign, some unusual results are obtained. It is noted in some displays around the city in recent nights.

Revelation is now made that during the war Pymatung lake was used as a testing place for electric torpedoes, manufactured by the Westinghouse company, which were a big factor in U. S. naval tactics in winning the war.

Pa. News was rather surprised on Sunday to see an auto that must have been manufactured 25 years ago, rolling through the downtown streets. Despite its age it was making good headway, and from the license carried, was heading back to Ohio.

Rainy weather of the past weeks has helped to fill up the skating pond in the seventh ward district, which was constructed under the direction of the Mayor's Recreation committee.

When one notes the large numbers of autos parked along practically all of the downtown streets, most any night in the week, one wonders where all the people are going or located for the evening.

One way traffic is encountered in a number of places on the highway, due to repairs and rebuilding of portions of the highway. Pa. News is told.

Small business is expanding in this area with the conclusion of the war. Numerous new stores, gas stations, etc., are being opened in the city and county, it is noted. Several garages of large size are also under construction.

Coal Strike Controversy Is Severe Test To Reorganized 'Labor Machinery'

STRIKE SITUATION SOMEWHAT EASED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS).—The coal strike controversy shaped up today as the severest test yet faced by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach and the government's newly reorganized labor machinery.

Carrying a potentially grave threat to the nation's reconversion program, the mine dispute apparently offers ground for bargaining or a compromise settlement.

Unionization Fight
Wages are not at issue between John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers Union president, and the soft coal operators. The fight is over the unionization of mine foremen and supervisory employees which the operators claim should be exempt as a part of "management."

With an estimated 160,000 miners already idle and the work stoppages slowly spreading, Schwellenbach was scheduled to meet with Lewis and the mine owners today, to resume efforts to find a way out of the deadlock.

Developments over the week end brought no change in the coal controversy. In other major industries, the labor picture was as follows:

Oil—Normal operations apparently certain with a general back-to-work movement in progress at navy.

Six More Busses Are Secured For Service In City

Some Of Oldest Busses Now Being Used On City Lines Will Be 'Retired'

Shenango Valley Transportation company has purchased six used buses which have already arrived in the city and which will be in service as soon as these buses have been placed in proper mechanical condition and are painted in conformity with the local company's color.

Samuel Friedman, president of the local company, said today that two of the oldest of the buses now in service will be "retired."

President Friedman stated that it may take some time before the buses can be overhauled and painted. A representative of a large paint concern conferred with the transportation company president Saturday and reported that it may require some weeks before the type of paint required for them can be shipped here.

The local bus executive said that it is possible that if the service, which reportedly has been much bettered because of a change recently in the schedule, requires several of the buses may be placed in service while others are being painted and those impressed quickly into operation will be repainted later.

President Friedman asserted that service was the first requisite and he believes that with the addition of the buses procured in the east that the transportation requirements of the public will be fully met this winter when possibly hundreds of private autos are garaged and owners use the public bus system to travel to and from employment.

Declares Hirohito Knew Of Pearl Harbor Plans

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, Japan's retiring premier and cousin of Emperor Hirohito, disclosed today that the emperor knew of the imperial navy's plan to attack Pearl Harbor before the treacherous blow plunged Nippon and the United States into bloody conflict.

But Higashi-Kuni said it was the emperor's understanding that in executing military operations the government of the United States was to be duly notified prior to the commencement of armed action.

"Although his majesty heard from the naval chief of staff of the general outline of operations against Pearl Harbor, he was not informed of the details of their execution," Higashi-Kuni declared.

Gave Imperial Sanction
The prince also disclosed that the emperor signed an imperial rescript.

Premier Shidehara Completes Formation Of New Cabinet For Japan

BY JOHN R. HENRY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—Premier Baron Kiijiro Shidehara completed the formation of his new cabinet today and announced that he would submit the names of his chosen ministers to Emperor Hirohito for final approval later in the day.

The 73-year-old premier and one-time ambassador to the United States disclosed that he had carefully selected his cabinet members after "exchanging information" with Gen. Douglas MacArthur to avoid the selection of any war criminals.

The supreme allied commander apparently had approved of the men chosen by Shidehara to guide vanquished Nippon along the path to democracy under the direction of allied occupation authorities.

Cabinet Shakeup

Shidehara's cabinet included: Sankuro Ogasawara, minister of commerce and industry; Kenzo Matsumura, minister of agriculture and forestry; Shigeru Yoshida, foreign minister; Tamon Maeda, minister of education; Gen. Sadatoshi Shimamura, minister of war; Adm. Norikazu Toyoda, navy minister; Viscount Keizo Shibusawa, minister of finance; Zeniro Horikiri, home minister; Hitoshi Ashida, minister of public welfare; Chuza Iwata, minister of justice; and Tazuo Tanaka, transportation minister.

Operations of the three New Kensington plants of the Aluminum Company of America were operating at full blast when the first of 4,000 workers returned to work yesterday.

In Pittsburgh, striking AFL warehousemen at the Federal Cold Storage plant returned to work as the 400 produce ward workers strike moved into its 12th day.

Fifty warehousemen walked out Saturday when a McKeesport independent merchant removed produce from the cold storage plant with the aid of deputy sheriffs.

Speeding Racing Car Careens Into Carlisle Crowd

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS).—One man was dead today and 13 other persons were suffering multiple injuries sustained when a speeding racing car skidded from a speedway at Williams Grove Park and careened into spectators lining the rail.

A mechanical failure was believed to have caused the accident.

Miller Hoover, 60, of Mechanicsburg, R. D., died en route to the hospital where the victims were taken by ambulance. Physicians said he had sustained a fractured skull.

Eight of the injured spectators, including five children, were related. The driver, Mark Light, of Lebanon, sustained severe chest and shoulder injuries when the car crashed into the crowd.

Man Found Dead In Locked Auto

WARREN, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS).—The Warren county coroner's office today continued its investigation into the death of Albert P. Hobbs, 55, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who was found dead in his car near Farmington township.

A preliminary investigation by police revealed that a hose had been attached to the exhaust pipe of his car and led into the rear seat of the automobile.

Both doors of the car were locked.

Physician In San Francisco Case Is Suicide

Body Of Dr. John F. Mansfeldt Is Found In Auto After Long Search

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Two angles of San Francisco's tragic triangle of a doctor, his wife, and a married nurse were closed today by violent death.

The prominent physician, Dr. John F. Mansfeldt, missing since his wife fired a fatal bullet into Mrs. Vana Martin last Thursday, was found yesterday, a suicide.

Discovery of the 48-year-old doctor's body slumped in the front seat of his automobile parked along a lonely cliff road overlooking the sea ended a state-wide search.

Authorities attributed death to self-administered hypodermic injection of morphine sulphate.

Dead Several Days

An autopsy indicated that the doctor had been dead since the day his distraught wife, Annie Irene, 45-year-old musician and mother of three teen-aged children, drove to a hospital, announcing:

"There's a dying woman in my car outside."

Dr. Mansfeldt was summoned to the hospital, where shortly after the 36-year-old nurse had died. Mrs. Mansfeldt reportedly declared:

"I killed her."

Dr. Mansfeldt identified his wife, who had collapsed and was unconscious. Then he vanished.

Two drained vials of the narcotic used to ease pain and shock were found beside a hypodermic needle in the glove compartment of the car. There were no notes.

Woman Hysterical

When her husband failed to appear at her arraignment Friday, Mrs. Mansfeldt had cried out her fear that he was "dead." "I'm sure he's done away with himself."

Red-haired Mrs. Mansfeldt, who accused the nurse of a clandestine affair with the doctor, admitted that she shot her in an automobile in a San Francisco street, police said.

Mrs. Mansfeldt was first told that her husband had succumbed to a heart attack.

"Tell me the truth," she demanded. Then her voice rising to uncontrollable hysteria, she shrieked:

"I killed him. I killed my husband, oh, my husband, my babies, my life."

Direct Company To Resume Stops

City Council Today Also Discusses Plan To Better Wilmington Avenue Service

Council presented a united front today against the Shenango Valley Transportation Company when a resolution submitted by Director James Gibson, which was seconded by Director Joseph D. Alexander, called upon the transportation company to resume all regular stops here.

The Wilmington avenue operation was discussed.

A complaint against the company was made by Director Alexander who asserted that Wilmington avenue service needed adjustment. He expressed the opinion a 15 minute schedule should be maintained and also asserted Wilmington avenue buses should be routed south via Wallace and Highland avenues, explaining this would assist in alleviating Highland avenue transportation.

Mayor John F. Haven followed with a declaration that "the people feel now that the war is over that all stops which existed prior to the gasoline shortage should be made again." The mayor, in reference to Wilmington avenue, maintained that one bus would not adequately serve the Wilmington avenue route, suggested by Alexander.

Expect Future Conference
Director James Gibson reported he had talked to Superintendent H. L. Shoaff during which he said the council expect a resumption of all stops.

"We will tell him what to do. We took off the stops because of the gasoline shortage," Mayor Haven stated, then he said he would entertain a motion to direct a resumption of all regular stops.

Director Gibson offered the motion which was seconded by Director Alexander and it received a unanimous vote.

It was also indicated that a development would be a conference between company and city officials during which the entire situation would be discussed.

Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita Is Given Testimonial On 40th Anniversary

Appreciation for 40 years of spiritual guidance and work was bestowed upon the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, on Sunday evening when he was tendered a testimonial dinner by his parishioners in the dining room of the Cathedral.

The testimonial, coming as a complete but pleasant surprise to Fr. DeMita, drew a crowd of close to 450 people. It was a medium of the parish's expression of heartfelt sincerity for their pastor, who in 1905 assumed his first duties as pastor to 400 families, and now proudly boasts an achieved membership of over 1500 families.

Dinner Served
Blessing was given by Rev. Fr. Francis C. Streiff, pastor of St. Joseph's church, and following a full course chicken and spaghetti dinner was served at 6:30 on attractively arranged tables. Red and white were the predominating colors, and throughout the entire room lovely bouquets of fall flowers centered the tables. The speakers table held many bouquets of flowers sent to the honored guest by well-wishers.

Steel Production Resume Trial Of Pierre Laval

More Coal Mines Down In Central And Western Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS).—With 12 more coal mines down in central and western Pennsylvania, steel making was cut drastically in the Pittsburgh area today as mine operators sought a solution to the 16-day-old strike.

The closed mines threw more than 60,000 miners into idleness and caused a daily production loss of 281,842 tons of coals. In West Virginia more than 64,000 miners were idle with 150 mines closed.

Steel making in the Pittsburgh area will drop 12 points or 62 per cent of theoretical capacity this week because of the strike.

Some major steel producers had an 11 day's supply of coal on hand when the strike was called, and by cutting production they have managed to spread it over a longer period.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation will have 15 blast furnaces and 55 open hearths idle by Wednesday. Gas production in the corporation's Clairton plant was cut 50 per cent. The Farrell plant was closed yesterday throwing 1,800 men out of work.

In Pittsburgh domestic users were faced with the possibility of little or no coal for house heat. Retail coal yards have been swept clean and householders were on a ration basis. Transportation, hospitals and utilities were still being supplied but on a limited basis.

Another witness, Mrs. Delapennmerave, former secretary of the senate, hurried another damaging statement at the missing defendant.

"On July 10, 1940," Delapennmerave testified, "Laval told me this is how one overthrew a republic."

He also declared that on July 3 of the same year the Vichy premier told him that "in six weeks England will be on our knees and will be obliged to capitulate."

Delapennmerave said that Laval told him "we must try to obtain a softer fate. We must create a climate for this."

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(INS).—London's East End buzzed today with accounts of a visit by Queen Mother Mary and the Duke of Windsor, and of the sleeping husband who refused to get up to see them.

The queen mother and the duke, on his first trip to England in six years, toured Lambeth, Stepney and other East End districts yesterday inspecting bomb damage and housing, including new prefabricated dwellings.

In one prefabricated house the royal couple asked to see one of the bedrooms. The tenant, Mrs. Phoebe Kirby, rushed in to wake her husband who was sleeping in the room.

Queen Mary and the Duke of Windsor have dropped in to see us," she said. "Get up and get your shirt on."

The husband grunted. "Get out of it," turned over and went back to sleep.

The queen and Windsor tiptoed away.

Gen. Yamashita Is Arraigned As War Criminal

Pleads Not Guilty In Allied Court At Manila, Trial Set For October 29

PROCEEDINGS ARE PAINFULLY SLOW

By PAT ROBINSON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, Oct. 8.—Lieut.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, first high-ranking Japanese to stand before an Allied court as an accused war criminal, pleaded not guilty today at his arraignment in the bullet-riddled ballroom of the old U. S. high commissioner's mansion in Manila.

After hearing the plea of the former Japanese commander in the Philippines, the court set the trial for October 29 at 8 a. m. and Yamashita was remanded to the new Bilibid prison to await his fate, which Army legal experts predict will be the hangman's noose.

Proceedings Are Slow

Yamashita seemed unable to understand two official American interpreters.

His own interpreter, Masakazu Hamamoto (Harvard '27), was compelled to translate a second time, thus protracting proceedings from an expected 15 minutes to an hour and a half.

At that rate, observers said, his trial may last months.

Yamashita demanded and received a bill of particulars, with Chief Prosecutor Maj. Bob Kerr, Portland, Ore., reserving the right to make supplementary charges of "brutal atrocities and other crimes."

Yamashita also asked that his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Muto, and his deputy chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Utsunomiya, be permitted to sit with him during the trial as associate counsel.

Move Is Opposed
Kerr utterly opposed this move on the ground that the pair will be tried later as war criminals. But Maj. Gen. Russell Reynolds, Daneb, Mich., president of the five-man court, granted Yamashita's request.

Kerr also protested against technicalities raised by Chief Counsel Col. Harry Clarke, Altona, Pa.

Asserts Kramer Only Scapegoat

Defense Attorney Outlines Defense In Trial Of Accused 'Beast Of Belsen'

BULLETIN

LUENBURG, Germany, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Josef Kramer, leading S.S. guard on trial for concentration camp atrocities, was described today by his defense attorney as not the beast of Belsen but the scapegoat for former Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and the whole national socialist system.

The counsel, Major Thomas Claude Winwood, put Kramer on the stand and began his case in the line that Kramer and his co-defendants from the Belsen and Oswiecim camps were acting in blind obedience. He said that Kramer's only witness would be Kramer himself.

Maj. Winwood told how Hitler in 1934 sent a personal telegram of congratulations to two members of the S.S. elite guard who had killed a man.

Mr. Truman's program is expected to parallel the plan of the late President Roosevelt for extension of the TVA program to the principal watersheds of the nation. He already has led off with a message to Congress recommending speedy action on the long-deferred construction of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways project.

Today, the President leaves this little southeast Missouri town after a Sunday spent visiting among friends in his home state, attending church and a county fair with them, and motors into Tennessee to spend the next two days at a fishing lodge on Reelfoot lake, a famous Tennessee fishing and hunting resort.

The President will stay at a lodge not far from Tiptonville, Tenn. He expects to spend the next two days resting.

TWO SMALL FIRES OVER WEEK END

Two small fires were reported over the week-end by Fire Chief James E. Thomas.

At 5:30 p. m. Saturday, firemen were called to South Jefferson street, where gasoline leaking onto the motor ignited on a tractor owned by Andrew Pfahles, local contractor. There was no damage.

At 1:15 p. m. Sunday, Seventh Ward firemen were called to 516 W. Clayton street, where they found a short in the wiring of an auto owned by W. A. Bugbee.

operated refineries. The CIO Oil Workers Union expected soon to present an application to the War Labor Board disputing increases during the period of government operation.

Automobile—Some 50,000 Ford workers recalled to their jobs upon settlement of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Corporation strike and production resuming at the Hudson Motor Company following an end to the walkout by 50,000 Hudson foremen. A strike vote petition covering Ford plants was expected to be presented, however, to the National Labor Relations Board today by the CIO United Automobile Workers Union.

Telephone—Officials of the National Federation of Telephone Workers meeting in New York today to determine when to seek a strike vote by the NLRB among 200,000 workers and to settle an intra-union dispute over whether a wage demand will be attached to the ballot.

Lumber—Fireworks anticipated this week between CIO and AFL groups in the Pacific northwest. CIO leaders are seeking injunctions to prevent picketing of mills under contract with the CIO by striking AFL lumber workers. Some 60,000 AFL members are entering the third week of their strike while CIO lumber unions still are in the process of negotiating for wage increases.

In the coal dispute, it appeared certain that Schwellenbach eventually will have to put forward some government proposal for terminating the union-operator stalemate. The nine owners refuse to negotiate with Lewis on the foremen question until he sends the miners back to work and the UMW president thus far has flatly rejected such a demand.

Labor department sources, however, are at a loss as to what proposal the government could make that would be acceptable to both sides. Schwellenbach is reluctant to go to government seizure as the ultimate method of ending the controversy, and some officials are doubtful that this step would prove effective among the miners now that the war has ended.

who objected to the broad scope of the official charge. Kerr maintained that the case comes under military, not civilian, court rules.

Yamashita, speaking earnestly in words sharply bitten, pleaded that he could not remember events without help of Muto and Usonomiva, who, he said, had no records.

Yamashita is not charged with personal perpetration of individual crimes, but is accused of fashioning a wide pattern of atrocities, an extensive and inclusive campaign of bestiality.

The bill of particulars, however, specifies 66 instances, setting forth names, dates and places of a series of murders, rapes, arsons and other crimes.

REV. FR. DE MITA GIVEN TESTIMONIAL ON ANNIVERSARY

Salon music was provided during the dinner by Larry Vert and his local musicians amidst a setting of ferns and flowers.

Dr. John P. Proietti, prominent member of the parish, presided and stated briefly a little of the parish history. The parish was organized in 1900 with the Franciscan Fathers in charge. On the first Sunday in October 1905, Fr. DeMita assumed his pastorate. Since then the church has grown from a dilapidated structure to the fine and substantial one it is today, under the supervision of Fr. DeMita. At later dates the church content and records were remodeled and enlarged. Still more recently additional ground was purchased, to be the location for a modern parochial school—the fulfillment of Fr. DeMita's ambition. "We need more champions in religion like Fr. DeMita, champions to teach brotherhood of man and the quality and respect of others," Dr. Proietti concluded.

He then introduced the toastmaster, Rev. Fr. Albert M. Innes, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church for over the past four years.

Father Innes toastmaster
Fr. Innes ably conducted his role as toastmaster and extended his sincere greetings to Fr. DeMita. He stated that a more fitting occasion could not have been held, for socially and spiritually, Fr. DeMita's actions spoke for themselves.

Mayor John F. Haven as the first speaker, extended congratulations and wishes for continued success in future years.

Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Francis church, commented upon the work and aims of all priests. "Priests are in a sense spiritual doctors, who prescribe all that is needed for the good of the soul. The standards are high for the divine route. In judging the measures for Fr. DeMita's, his standards and ideals have proven high, and his continued presence will add to our benefit."

Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito, pastor of St. Lucy's church, was the next speaker, and he spoke in Italian. His tribute cited the patience and cooperation shown in the past by Fr. DeMita, and expressed his continued successful pastorate.

The brief musical portion was presented at this time, and in honor of the Feast of the Holy Rosary, the beautiful selection, "The Rosary," was sung by Michael Turco.

Special Gift Presented
Alfonso Scarazzo was introduced, and in behalf of the congregation, presented Fr. DeMita a special gift, a huge brown leather armchair for his 40 years of service here.

Graciously responding to this manifestation of respect, Fr. DeMita, somewhat embarrassed, thanked all who made the evening possible, and paid special tribute to the Altar Rosary society, who were sponsors of the dinner.

Fr. DeMita expressed his surprise that such an event could have been planned in his honor without even an inkling of the event reaching him. In speaking of his accomplishments, they were only "for the glory of God and the welfare of the people. Priests do not expect reward, their ambitions and desires are for their congregation. My life's fulfillment will be the completion of a modern parochial school, and with this in mind, we hope and pray for this accomplishment, so that the Catholic education be continued, and also the education in the principles of this country."

Rev. Fr. V. Stanekowski, pastor of St. Philip and James church, gave the benediction.

Fr. DeMita's show of good will and love of mankind is known throughout the vicinity. He was not only responsible for the great success of the St. Vitus parish, but was also instrumental in the organization of parishes in Freedom, McKees Rocks, Mt. Pleasant, Jeannette, New Kensington, Hillside, Mahoningtown, and Ellwood City. His life's work and untiring efforts have proven successful and his parishioners and many others have extended wishes for added years of health and happiness.

Among the other local and out-of-town priests to honor him last evening were Rev. Fr. Francis King, Rev. Fr. V. Galliano, Seminarian Francis Glinch, Rev. Fr. Richard Paluse, Rev. Fr. F. Paul, Rev. Fr. James Kernan, Rev. Fr. John M.

DECLARES HIROHITO INFORMED OF PEARL HARBOR PLANS

giving imperial sanction to the war at 11:30 a. m. Tokyo time, December 8, 1941, which was 4 p. m. Honolulu time, December 7.

Japanese carrier planes bombed Pearl Harbor during the morning, several hours before the emperor had signed the war rescript.

Higashi-Kuni's revelations, containing the first official Japanese admission that the emperor had known the war was coming, was contained in a written statement answering questions submitted to him in writing by allied newsmen before his cabinet fell.

His statement showed that the emperor had been fully aware of war plans even when Suburi Kuroshio's peace mission to Washington was underway.

In answering other questions Higashi-Kuni said that Japan was working as fast as possible investigating charges that Japanese soldiers had committed outrages against native inhabitants of conquered countries.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Future Of U. S. Navy Is Still Undefined

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Navy has a rich and wonderful tradition that goes back into our earliest past. Any school boy can reel off the great names and the great battles, and now the names of Nimitz and Halsey are carved up on the scroll of honor.

With the triumphant return of Admiral Nimitz, this tradition is having a great airing. First Washington, then New York, then Dallas and Austin, Tex., are seeing the boss of the Pacific in a setting of naval might.

This stirs the pride of every American. It makes us realize something of the naval might put together in the Pacific for the winning of the war.

Future Role Undefined

But when the sound of the last band has died away, the fact remains that the role of the Navy in the future is still undefined. And that role, if common sense prevails, will be determined on the basis of our security needs, with all new weapons taken into account, and not on tradition.

The last will not be easy. The Marine Corps, for example, is fearful that in any unification of the services they would be merged with other land forces and their proud identity and great tradition thereby lost.

Moreover, the Navy has always had a clever way of exploiting its tradition and playing on the sentiments of the civilians who must make the final decisions. They have been aided in this by civilian organizations linked in some instances, to shipbuilding companies that had a practical interest in the continuing glories of the Navy.

The big navy viewpoint is so impressed on Congress that we have the disturbing phenomenon of congressional committees going even further in their claims and demands than responsible Navy spokesmen. Last August a House naval affairs sub-committee recommended that the U. S. take "full title" to every Pacific Island where American bases are now temporarily located.

Extreme Imperialism

That kind of imperialism makes the most fire-eating admiral look like a timid pacifist. Apparently, many things are happening in the Pacific that we back here know little about. Publisher John Corlies, in the course of a report on a swing around the Pacific had this to say:

"As one who has recently covered some 20,000 miles of the Pacific, I am convinced the American people have no comprehension of the colossal sums of money being spent in the Pacific for permanent, as contrasted with wartime, naval and air installations. Wholly apart from the manpower—Navy seamen and Army engineers being employed in constructing these permanent bases, we are spending hundreds of millions of dollars for material and equipment for their postwar use."

This is all the more extraordinary since recent weapons and those still in the trial stage will make all these installations obsolete. What is more important, these permanent bases the Navy is busily building mean that we will have commitments in the farthest corners of the world's greatest ocean.

There are men in the Navy, such as Admiral Nimitz and Admiral Raymond A. Spruance, commander of the United States Fifth Fleet, who take a realistic view of our place in the world. They know the dangers in trying to stake out an overseas empire in the Pacific. But there are others who speak with contempt of efforts at world co-operation; who hint at the need to continue on a course of world conquest. They are isolationists in that they believe America must go it alone. They are also imperialists. The kind of imperialism they hold to is a dangerous one. It is one that has only begun to grasp the meaning of atomic power.

Given the enormous burden of the cost of this war, the military services can afford few traditional flourishes. Our defense system must be strictly in line with our security needs.

"Particulars?" asked the sergeant.

"I don't know," stammered the husband.

"Do you know how she was dressed?"

"No, but she took the dog with her."

"What kind of a dog?"

"Brindle bull terrier, weight 53 pounds, four dark blotches on his body, shading from gray to white, three white legs and right front leg banded all but the toes. A small nick on the left ear."

"That'll do," gasped the sergeant. "We'll find the dog."

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

GRANDFATHER MINDS THE BABIES

As I write this, I am facing the window beyond which Karen, three years of age, and Kent, twenty months old, are busy, barefoot, in the sandbox. They have several small cardboard boxes, numerous tin cans with smooth edges, a colander and funnel. Now Kent is pouring sand through the funnel. Over weeks, I have seen each of these youngsters and each of two playmates spend many minutes at a stretch with the funnel or colander.

They make all sorts of imaginary things. Kent's creative imagination appeared only recently. Karen will spend long periods at making "pies" which she bakes in the oven of a cardboard box. Yesterday afternoon she called to me in the garden from the sandbox naming several kinds of pies and asked me seriously the kind I would prefer. I answered her seriously, of course. At supper, she told me they were ready for me "only they are not real pies."

Kent's Training

Right now Kent is walking round the foot-wide ledge of the box. I had to leave this article today to explain to him he must not use this ledge for pouring sand from one receptacle to another. It took several days at first to train him not to carry sand away from the box and scatter it. It cost him a few slaps on the hands before he got it into his head. Some reminders, now by us and Big Sister suffice.

The sand is white nursery sand. It is clean and easily runs when dry—interrupted again to "advise" Kent he must not ride his "ma-na" on the ledge. We put about four hundred pounds of sand into the box a few months ago and nearly all of it is still there.

Sand Box

We had the box made to order. I gave it two coats of white paint. It is six feet square and one foot high, larger than necessary for these two children but not too large when two children join them. It is in the sun part of the day. We consider it the best play equipment we have provided for them and it should be good for several years when peace and not war may bring these and other young grandchildren here to spend summers.

Here was another interruption to take these youngsters to the end of the drive to ride into the garage with the returning grandmother. The mother is away now to visit their father.

Earlier today, Karen kept begging till I read several stories to her. Kent listened for a few minutes and walked away. Later I read to him from Tenggren's Mother Goose to which he listened till 11 p.m. and covered when he said down and I put the book away. He turned each page carefully but I did not read all on every page, wishing to hold his interest.

Turn Pages

We have spent considerable time training this baby to turn a page slowly and gently, by tenderly restraining his little hand and then patting it encouragingly after he has turned the page carefully. This takes time and patience, of course, but brings desirable results. Karen listened while I read to Kent, though she usually chooses for herself stories hard enough for the second or third grade child to read.

Sometimes the mother or grandmother will read to one while I go the other, a few feet away, just as we used to do when their mother and next older child was about their age and older.

Right now, Karen and Kent are helping their grandmother prepare the vegetables from the garden for dinner, slightly delaying their own happiness and development.

WHEN SHOULD ENGAGEMENT BE ANNOUNCED?

Is it proper to announce an engagement when it is not possible to set a wedding date and when the bride-to-be has no ring and won't have until her fiancé returns from foreign service? The prospective bridegroom's family lives at a distant point. Who writes to whom when the news is out? What of the bride's bouquet? That of the groom's mother? If the groom's out-of-town family attends the wedding who bears their hotel expenses?

New York Not Gay, Has Become Grouchy Spot
Strikes, Unemployment Leave Town Gloomy
Shopping Tour Shows Shortages Still Exist

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—I went to New York for a few days' holiday last week. Said I, it will be gay up there. Everybody rejoicing that the war is over. None of the uncertainty and confusion of official Washington engaged in an unwinding a world war.

New York, however, was not gay. It was more frantic, worse-mannered than ever. Never saw so many cross people. Not a happy face anywhere. Thousands of unemployed about, because of the closing down of war plants. With a few extra tens of thousands added to the idle and disgruntled by the strike of the elevator operators.

In the wholesale district, mobs of people were standing about doing nothing. Just standing and gawking. In the shops, clerks and hoppers ready to quarrel and quarreling. It made me uncomfortable. Uneasy about the days ahead.

Let me get back to Washington. I thought let me find a contented little family, already back to bathing in the old peacetime way.

I found the little family. Contented deep down. But struggling with the difficulties of reconversion, in its own small way.

Mother Gives Reactions

I persuaded the mother of the family to put down on paper for me some of her reactions to this postwar world. Here they are. Not world-shattering reactions. Just the sort that thousands of American families are mulling through.

When that alarming day, peace arrived last month I was so elated that I felt certain that on the morrow would start that perfect new world that the magazine advertisements had promised me.

I immediately anticipated running downtown and picking up all the underwear, socks and slippers I needed for the children, new clothes for myself and a few little gadgets for the home. Such as a new washing machine and a carpet sweeper.

The pleasantest change of all was going to be the dressing up of Papa. The children and I were actually proud and a little bit sad when Papa's new and new striped shirt were removed three weeks ago to make room for the Navy's blue and gray. Then he was pretty pleased with himself. I remember. He stole many a surreptitious glance at the cut of his uniform across the shoulders.

But that was months ago. No new mother, ignoring into the trash those army garments, she was for so many months before a blessed event, was ever happier over a change in costume than was Papa last week on return to normalcy.

Shortages Found

"On the great day of his honorable discharge from the Navy, he rushed into the house, perched off his uniform. And ran up to the attic for his beloved civvie. We gathered about as Papa put on his favorite brown suit and brown-and-white shirt, and made flattering comments. But—"

First of all there were three large moth holes—center front—in Papa's brown suit. I anticipated the usual struggle with the tailor and an appalling bill to get them removed.

And Papa's best brown hat would definitely have to be replaced. The children had used it for a football.

"We went on a shopping tour and found the same discouraging shortages as during the war. There wasn't one broadcloth shirt anywhere in Papa's size. All that one men's wear department had to offer was some $3.50 undershirts imported from Switzerland."

We did buy Papa a new hat. It looks very nice, as well it might. It cost $20. We managed to find a few pairs of children's pajamas (valued 10 cents for which we paid a dollar. Also a $25 hat for me. It is a rather thin but three-year-old one.

Our dream of the Utopian home has come true. We have an icebox well stocked with meat and apple pie. Perhaps a full tummy is all anyone should ask in this bright new world."

Display Of City Budget Attracts Few Citizens

What is the city's budget? Not just how much does it amount to, but what in the world does it look like and who makes it look that way?

You don't know it perhaps, but you have a right to examine the budget before it is passed by council. According to state law, the whole tentative budget—which usually turns out to be the real thing—is placed in the office of the city clerk for public inspection during the entire month of December.

Few Take Look

Maybe two, maybe three people out of the city's entire population go in to look over during the 30 days. In the first place, most people couldn't figure it out anyway, you decide at first glance, and in the second place, maybe they don't "give a darn."

Because at first, the budget looks like a rather intricate pattern of red lines and black numerals, but after a while you get the idea that there is a certain coherency and symbolism to the pattern. The numerals represent the amount of money which the city council says will be allotted to the five different departments of the city government. These five different departments in to look it over during the 30 days divisions, and two hundred and eighty different appropriations. Requisitions for each of these appropriations are sent in to the office of the director of finance, representing the amount of money which each branch thinks it will need and think it has a chance of talking council into permitting.

The director of finance, then checks the requisitions first, and if he approves them he goes to council. Naturally each councilman is interested in building up his own department, and four of them slug it out while the fifth, being the director of finance, tries to hold them down.

Hibernates 30 Days

This process of making requisitions, drawing up the budget, and arguing over it in council lasts through October and November, and by December the budget is on the desk in the city clerk's office—hibernating for 30 days. Arrived from its rest, the budget is passed by council on the first Monday of January. Council gets the idea of just how much the city should have and will need to spend from estimate of the amount of taxes which will be levied during the year—or rather from estimates of what percentage of the taxes will be collectable—and from the expenditures of the previous year.

And during the year, every request for money must be checked against the allotment designated for that particular branch or subdivision, and if a department has just about used up its quota in a certain field, the finance department loses no time in informing it of the fact.

Just in case a subdivision or department needs a bit more money than was allocated for it, funds may be transferred from another subdivision where they may not be so urgently needed, if council sees fit. Not all of these funds come from property and personal taxes on you and your neighbor, as you may have realized as you slipped a nickel into a parking meter or paid a fine for running a race through a red light. Besides these, other sources of income are licenses and permits, fines and forfeits, interest and rents, special assessments, grants and gifts, departmental earnings, and refunds on state liquor licenses.

And after the budget is finally passed, then what? "By then," says Director of Finance Albert Hoyland, "I am a nervous wreck."

Amputee Officer Now Expert With Artificial Hands

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass.—(INS)—Mechanical hands which enable a man to light matches, some cigarettes, handle newspapers, and use a knife and fork with dexterity have been developed to an almost incredible degree of efficiency by Army experts.

At Camp Edwards, their leading demonstrator is Lieut. Edwin V. Rawley, hospital liaison officer, who lost both hands as result of a B-24 crash in Camp Haan, Calif., February 1, 1944.

Rawley nearly died from severe burns about the face, body and arms. A Bushnell General Hospital, Brigham City, Utah, his hands were amputated. Army physicians then fitted him with prostheses (look) and taught him how to use them.

Wires were run up his arms and looped about opposite shoulders. By elevating one shoulder he manipulates the mechanical pincers on his other hand.

Rawley admits it took him a long time to acquire dexterity. But he says the results have proven more than worthwhile.

Now he can hold a pen or pencil and write his own letters. He prefers to work a portable typewriter for the same reason he did when he had both hands—extra speed. Climax of his new skill was reached when he passed the test for his driver's license in Utah.

Rawley's present duties are to show other handless veterans how the work. He also serves as an example of moral encouragement to them if they become depressed over their own slow progress.

He believes amputated veterans should be encouraged to do as much as possible for themselves. "We have worked hard to gain proficiency with our artificial limbs and we would much prefer to work things out for ourselves," he says. "Sympathy we do not want—only a bit of understanding and help if we ask for it."

Garden Notes

Lilacs can go into the ground as late as November. Fall planting is better than spring for these shrubs because they start to grow very early in the season.

Autumn is the season for using slow-acting fertilizers. Therefore place bonemeal on the rose bed and in the soil around lilacs and other flowering shrubs. It starts working by spring.

After digging gladiolus corms, let them dry, then cut off foliage and store in boxes or paper bags with an ounce of naphthalene flakes for each 100 corms. Store in a cool place.

Before frost nips them, dig and store all tender bulbs, caladiums, dahlias, gladioli, montbretias and tigridias. Take in geraniums.

If you want really good lines-of-the-valley next spring, crumble old manure or compost over the bed this fall.

KERESTLY GROVE WEDDING IN CHURCH

Miss Mary Jane Kerestly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kerestly, 609 East Long avenue, and Albert C. Grove, EM 2-c, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Grove, 120 North Mulberry street, were united in marriage at a lovely open church ceremony on Saturday evening. The impressive double ring service was solemnized in the Croton Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Owen W. Shields, pastor officiated, in the presence of a large assemblage of guests.

Standing before the church altar beautifully empaneled with ferns, palms, and flowers of the season, the bride was attractive in her wedding gown. The moulded bodice was of white satin and the bouffant net skirt was made of tulle. Her finger-ring veil was held in place with a matching crown and she carried Calla lilies.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Frances Math, maid of honor, wore a pink taffeta ice length gown with matching accessories and carried an arm cluster of pink roses. Miss Marilyn Kerestly, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She appeared in a blue net gown with corresponding accessories, carrying an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Both attendants wore corresponding halos of fresh flowers.

Harold Zeiler served as best man. Ushers included Fred Rowland, U. S. Navy home on furlough, and John Kerestly, brother of the bride.

Appropriate wedding music was contributed by Miss Erma Waggoner, organist. She played a half-hour program preceding the entrance of the bride and groom, accompanied as soloist, Mrs. Margaret Chilli. She sang beautifully "Always and Forever."

The congratulatory period was followed by an informal reception in the church assembly rooms, a buffet lunch being served from a table prettily decorated in the nuptial motif.

Later in the evening the couple left on a wedding trip.

The bride was associated in the offices of Dr. A. H. Borland as a receptionist. The bridegroom was an electrician here, prior to entering service.

The longest prize fight in history took place in the Olympic club of New Orleans on April 6, 1893, between Andy Bowen (colored) and Jack Burke, and lasted 110 rounds or seven hours and 19 minutes. The irony of it all was the fact that the referee stopped it in the 110th round and declared it "no contest."

PRaises Press FOR GUARDING WAR SECRETS

WRIGHT FIELD, O.—(INS)—The nation's press received a pat on the back today from Col. G. R. Johnston, public relations officer of the air technical service command during the critical period of aircraft production which brought forth the Boeing Superfortress and more than 600,000 other planes and items of equipment.

In guarding vital secrets surrounding the development of American airpower during the last two years of the war, newspapermen and magazine writers performed a distinct service to the nation, Col. Johnston said.

Under orders transferring him to an assignment in Europe, Col. Johnston also lauded the aviation industry and labor for "outstanding achievements" in the production of AAF material.

A former Michigan newspaperman and magazine writer, Col. Johnston was ordered to Wright field, then headquarters of the AAF material command, was promptly thrown open to newspapermen and nationally known writers under a policy of trusting the press not to reveal secrets of value to the enemy. "So well were these secrets kept," Col. Johnston said, "that even some of our own personnel did not know of the existence of certain weapons until the war's end. The cooperation of the nation's press was a contributing factor to the ultimate victory."

Conference Held Sunday Afternoon

Temperance Conference And Rally
At First Christian Church Addressed By Dr. Galbreath

Seven of the eight districts comprising the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, were represented at the joint adult, administrative and temperance conference and rally held Sunday afternoon at the First Christian church of this city.

Dr. G. S. Bennett had charge of the opening devotional service after which Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of the Westminister College, brought an inspiring message dealing with ways adults of the Sunday schools may welcome and be of service to the returning soldiers.

Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, New Castle district temperance superintendent, had charge of the Temperance Open Forum and discussion period that followed. Miss Anna Dodds, county temperance superintendent, gave a message on the 1945 Pennsylvania school of alcohol studies that was held at Juniata College, Huntingdon, last summer. Among the statistics she presented was that per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages had increased from 1.67 gallons in 1933 to 1.935 gallons in 1944. Also that the arrests of girls under 18 increased 117.8 per cent in 1944 as compared with pre-war 1941.

Assisting in the discussion were Mrs. T. E. McGreevy, who also attended the school, and H. L. Marvin, president of New Castle district. It was brought out in the discussion that an effort was being made to co-ordinate all the agencies promoting temperance, so that more progress would be made by the united effort.

The importance of giving temperance instruction to the children in the schools, was also developed, and plans are being made to present such a program. A number of teachers stated that suitable text books were very limited for temperance instruction.

The Philippine government has established a Construction Corps to train Filipinos to replace American Army engineers in reconstruction, and is paying them standard army wages plus a bonus after six months' service.

A Local Lady 'Spit Up Acid Liquids For Hours After Eating

For hours after every meal, a New Castle lady used to spit up a strong, acidulous liquid mixed with pieces of half-digested food. She said it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle. She had stomach bloating, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Today, this lady eats her meals and enjoys them. And she says the change is due to taking ERB-HELP. No gas, bloating or spitting up after eating. She is also free of headaches now, and bowels are regular, thanks to this Remarkable New Compound.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs that cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP.

Now 4 Points FOR USED FATS

Help Increase Supplies of Soap and Other Peacetime Products By Saving More Used Fats

Industrial fats far short of last year! We are almost down to the bottom of the barrel. The nation's industrial fat supply is millions of pounds less than it was in 1944. We need fully as much as last year to help make the soaps and other civilian goods you want and need so badly. So...

If you want more soap and soap flakes... if you're dreaming of nylons, sheets, cotton fabrics and want them to hurry back to the store counter... you can help by saving those used kitchen fats as you never saved before! Save every drop, every day!

These fats are vitally necessary to help speed greater supplies of soaps and hundreds of other things—like new cars, electric washers, irons, refrigerators and tires. Industry must have these fats... to help get to you more quickly the peacetime products you've been longing to have for years!

So skim and scrape and scoop just as you did so faithfully before V J Day. It is a peacetime job now—a job that will help you. And to prove how important it is, your government has increased the point bonus. So help meet this nation's need by continuing to save used fats.

Liberated Countries
Facing Acute Need
During Winter

Recommendation Made That American People Tighten Belts
To Give Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)— Judge Samuel I. Rosenman was disclosed today to have recommended to President Truman that the American people tighten their belts to prevent economic and political chaos in Europe.

Rosenman's report was made public after the house appropriations committee set hearings for Thursday on the President's request for 550 million dollars for European relief.

In a letter to House Speaker Rayburn, Mr. Truman said the Liberated countries face "a winter of acute need and privation" and unless the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is enabled to speed ample supplies "widespread starvation and disease will result."

The Rosenman report was submitted to the president on April 28 following a three-month survey of conditions in northwest Europe instituted by the late President Roosevelt, but never made public until today. It was released at the request of the house foreign affairs committee.

According to Leo T. Crowley, referring foreign economics administrator, the report still presents "a clear and complete picture of conditions in northwest Europe." The survey covered Great Britain, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Denmark.

Cites Reason Smart People Are So Scarce

By MARTHA KEARNEY
U. S. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The non-profit population reference bureau declared today in its October bulletin that smart people don't have babies and that is why there are so few of them.

Under the heading, "Needed—higher birth rate among scientists," the bulletin declared specifically: "High school and college graduates are having about 1 1/2 children on the average, while persons with less than seven years of schooling are having four children."

"To put it another way, college-trained men and women are failing to reproduce themselves by 26 percent, while men and women who have not reached the seventh grade are over-producing themselves by 39 percent."

Director Guy Burch of the bureau quotes the office of scientific research and development's report to President Truman to bolster his contention that babies aren't smart enough nowadays.

Quotes Report
He quotes the report as claiming: "We have only to look about us to know that the current need for creative brains is not being met. There is too much wrong with the world and with our own country to have doubt about that."

Under the heading "Differences in birth rates can be reserved," Burch mentions a Swedish population study "showing that in Stockholm, in which city knowledge of family limitation had reached all economic groups in the population, that the higher the income, the higher the birth rate and the smaller the income the lower the birth rate."

He concludes that: "From these findings it appears that the discovery of how to control population growth without resorting to war or suffering from famine and pestilence may prove more significant in making the world a better place in which to live than the discovery of how to harness the energy within the atom."

The bulletin finally, in closing, lists the conditions which determine whether the birth of a specific baby is good or bad. It declares:

"Birth rates and population growth must be considered in connection with many other factors, and whether a population increase or decrease is 'good' or 'bad' must be judged in the light of natural resources, economic surpluses, level of living, future age compositions and military needs, to mention some of the important factors."

"This will probably come a great shock to people who thought all along that they were getting a handle from heaven."

Secretary Byrnes Will Be Quizzed

Foreign Relations Committee To Ask About Ill-Fated London Parley Of Ministers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Secretary of State Byrnes goes before a question-prime Senate foreign relations committee today to give a "full report" on the ill-fated London conference and American foreign policy on all fronts.

Sep. Tom Connolly (D) Tex., committee chairman, said the meeting would take up the issue of future control of Japan as well as the Argentine problem and the London "statelets."

Members looked for a plain-talking session with Byrnes, who returned late last week from the council of foreign ministers meeting in London.

Irritation Seen
Sen. LaFollette (P) Wis., reflected the irritation of other committee members over what he called the state department's failure to keep the American public fully informed on the issues which deadlocked the London meeting, and its "unilateral" action in bringing postponement of the inter-American conference at Rio de Janeiro.

Other committee members indicated they wanted to explore Byrnes' attitude on the Soviet bid for a share in the control of Japan after that defeated country's demobilization.

It was plain that, still angered over the state department's method of arranging the Rio conference postponement, the committee also would seek Byrnes' views on the whole Latin-American situation, with the emphasis on Argentina.

This new project has developed since the last meeting of the post. The building is now occupied by the Barnes-Snyder Motor Company.

Another large influx of members is expected at Tuesday night's meeting. The post membership now stands at over 800, with 318 new members having been taken in during the present membership drive, which is expected to see the post well over the top by November 3, the date of the annual department roundup at Harrisburg.

ORCHARDISTS PREPARE TO ELIMINATE FIELD RODENTS

Approach of autumn furnishes the fruit grower with a splendid opportunity to survey the orchard to determine the extent and density of the mice population. Both the meadow mouse and pine mouse injure or kill fruit trees by gnawing bark from base or trunks and roots.

Careful examination of orchards now will provide the basis for a thorough elimination of these rodent pests through the use of poison bait in the next few weeks. Both kinds of mice are short-tailed and often incorrectly called moles. Both of these dangerous species of mice make extensive trails or runways through the heavy grass, and dig burrows in the ground. Close examination of the orchard floor will reveal these workers, even though few, if any mice, may be seen.

Most effective control is obtained in the use of poison bait. Most fruit growers use bait stations, consisting of small bundles of corn fodder distributed at intervals through the orchards at spots where there is good natural cover.

After fodder has been in the orchard for several weeks, the mice will have collected under it, and may be readily killed with poison bait. Stations should be placed during early October, and then during November the poison bait can be placed. Free copies of the Agricultural Extension Service Circular called "Orchard Protection" are available at the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Probe Derailed Of Troop Train

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS)—An investigation was underway in Pittsburgh today to determine the cause of a troop train derailment in which 500 European veterans barely escaped injury.

Eleven cars of a 12-coach train were derailed in a tunnel of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Traveling at a slow speed the train was derailed as it entered the tunnel.

The troops arrived in this country in Boston on Friday and were en route to Fort MacArthur, Cal., for redeployment to the Pacific or discharge.

Another train was made up and troops were re-routed over another branch to continue their journey.

Coffee grounds and tea leaves will clean short-napped rugs if sprinkled by hand over the rug to be cleaned, allowed to remain for 15 minutes and brushed off with a stiff bristled brush.

Cubs Battle With Backs To Wall In Series Game Today

Hal Newhouse Comes Back With Revenge On Cubs For First Game Rout

Passeau And Trucks Will Pitch Today In Sixth Game, Tigers Hitting

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Writer)
WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 8.—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs peered furtively from the debris of a wrecked pitching staff today and pleaded earnestly that old and weary Claude Passeau hold the Detroit Tigers at bay just one more time.

When the Cubs blew their second straight game yesterday by 8 to 4 and fell behind the Tigers three games to two in the richest of all World Series, Grimm had virtually no choice but to go again with the elderly right-hander who hurled a one-hit shutout on Friday.

In the event of a Passeau victory, forcing the series into seven games, Grimm resignedly will next call upon old Joe, his left-handed banjo. That's about all he has left.

Franks to Pitch
Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers stuck to his choice of two days ago, the same being Sailor Virgil Trucks, winner over the Cubs in the second game.

Having been stopped by Hal Newhouse's left-handed slinging and their own spotty fielding, plus Hank Borowy's ineffectiveness yesterday, the Cubs are on the spot not only because they trail but also because they have run out of dependable pitchers. No fewer than five went to the mound yesterday to share in the raked defeat that was charged to Borowy.

Borowy Fails
Borowy failed Grimm yesterday in his moment of direst need. This wasn't entirely Borowy's fault. The fielding fell off as the Cubs made two errors, among other things, and Hank Greenberg was among the Tigers who did a fair share of nudging Borowy into the showers in the sixth when the Tigers broke a one-one deadlock and sewed it up. Newhouse was going in fine fettle during these early innings with the first of what eventually totaled nine strikeouts as he turned back the Cubs every time they bristled except in the third when the Chicagoans scored their first run to tie it.

Big Sixth Inning
Then came the sixth which saw the Tigers bat around and back through Roger Cramer for a second time, and Hank Greenberg hit the first of his three doubles as part of a four-hit, three-walk, one-error, four-run stampede which ran over and flattened out Borowy. His successor, right-handed Vandenberg, figured in some of the carnage.

With two on, Vandenberg managed to get out on a sacrifice. Then he purposely walked Catcher Paul Richards to fill the bases and followed that up by walking none other than Newhouse to force a run across the plate.

Newhouse Tough
Eventually, Vandenberg came out of the game and Grimm began to call on everybody.

Out of all this for the Tigers came 11 safe hits, including Greenberg's three doubles and another two-baser by Roy Cullenbine.

Newhouse, who was as tough as he said he felt in a terse pre-game statement, weakened toward the finish but, all told, gave away only seven hits, three of which were doubles by Borowy, Mickey Livingston and Phil Cavarretta.

Westminster Plans Revival Of Program Of School Athletics

Football Among Sports To Be Resumed By College During Coming Year

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 8.—Revival of a complete and well-rounded program of intercollegiate athletics for Westminster college in 1946, after four years of inactivity, was assured when the college's athletic committee voted to turn on the green light.

A strong possibility of turning out golf and tennis teams next spring will mark the beginning of returning sports prosperity. By next fall football will be resumed along with cross country, track and swimming.

Soccer is to be added to the program for the first time if at all possible, the council agreed. Another likelihood is the return of Joe Ferris, who coached swimming, track and cross country before they became war casualties, to assist the athletic staff.

New York Giants Defeat Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The hopes that the addition of the four new players to the Steeler squad would strengthen it enough to hold down the New York Giants today were blasted after the bitter defeat handed them by the Eastern Division champs to the tune of 34-6.

A strong aerial attack, led by Arnold Herber, was the chief cause for yesterday's defeat. The game was highlighted by the Giants scoring three touchdowns in 35 seconds at the close of the first half.

The Steelers came back in the second half to hold the Giants scoreless in a determined effort to keep things from looking any worse.

Three centuries ago there were only eight persons for each square mile of dry land on the earth. Today there are 40.

Roussos Scores Three Times As Pitt Tops Bisons

Roussos, Former New Castle Star, Now Among Top-Notch Scorers In East
Big Mike Roussos, 220 pounds, former New Castle High star line-man, now playing fullback for the Pitt Panthers was the hero again Saturday as the Pitt Panthers clawed the Bucknell Bisons 38 to 0. Roussos scored three of the Pitt touchdowns.

In the West Virginia game Roussos scored one to make it four in two games, and put him among the top notch scorers in the east. Roussos scored his first touchdown from the two-yard line, his second from the seven-yard line and the last one a 57-yard gallop through the Bucknell team.

Also playing a fine game for Pitt Saturday was two other New Castle boys—Bill McPeak and Denver Newman, both used at ends, the former starting the game.

SPORTSMEN TO TALK CLUBHOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT

When members of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association meet at eight o'clock Tuesday night in Neshaunook Hall, V. F. W. 315, a committee named by President Robert Lamoree to make recommendations concerning a clubhouse at the association's Harbor farm, will make their report. The proposal to increase association dues will also be discussed and game prospects for the coming season will be made known.

The proposed clubhouse will be approximately 40 feet wide and 100 feet long and will contain an indoor rifle range, hall for meeting, kitchen and also smaller room for affairs not requiring the larger room it was learned today.

Open Every Day
Plans are also made for adequate living quarters for caretaker and his family and if the proposal goes through sportsmen will have a place where yards can be swapped anytime. It is planned to keep the clubhouse open for members every day. Porches are proposed so that the progress of those at skeet and traps can be noted.

The proposed clubhouse is the largest project ever undertaken by the association and members would like to have every member bring a friend to the meeting Tuesday night.

Hutson Stars As Green Bay Wins

Packers, Cleveland, Eagles, Boston And New York Giants Win

(By International News Service)
That nonpareil pass-receiver of professional football—Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers—basked today in the reflected glory of one of his best single game performances in 11 seasons of top-notch play.

Hutson caught four touchdowns passes and kicked seven conversions at Milwaukee, Wis., Sunday to lead the Packers to a 37-21 rout of the Detroit Lions. His 31 points highlighted the first full schedule in the National Football League season which produced three other results: Cleveland 17, Chicago Bears 0; Philadelphia 21, Chicago Cardinals 6; Boston 28, Washington 20; New York 34, Pittsburgh 6.

This week's schedule, Chicago Bears, Cleveland at Green Bay, Philadelphia at Detroit, New York Giants vs. Boston Yanks in Yankee Stadium, Washington at Pittsburgh.

Current Series Richest Of All

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The 1945 world series was certain today to become the richest in history. Total receipts for the first five games totaled $1,183,746, only $128,582 off the record $1,312,328 set during the Cincinnati-Detroit series in 1940, which went seven games.

With a take of well over $200,000 expected for today's game, a new mark is assured.

Attendance figures for the first five games of the series total 250,139 even a capacity throng at Wrigley Field today would shatter the attendance record of 302,924 set during the Yanks-Giants series in 1936.

If the series goes seven games, however, a new attendance mark may be established. The crowd record for a seven-game series is 328,551, set by the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals in 1926.

Banquet Plans Being Completed

Final plans for the Lawrence county baseball banquet at The Castleton hotel Thursday will be made tonight at a committee meeting in Ellwood City at seven o'clock with Alie Samuels, Dick Friedhoff, Danny Schill, Earl Mofatt and Bugs Walther attending.

The banquet will start at seven o'clock. Carl Hutbard, American league umpire, will be one of the speakers. This is definitely assured. The banquet is open to the general public. The tickets are $2.00. There are indications that at least 100 will attend the dinner which honors the Ellwood City baseball club, 1945 Lawrence County league champions.

Touchdown Pass Whips New Castle

New Castle's Undeclared And Unscored On Record Ends On Saturday

Crowd Of Some 9,000 Sit Under Perfect Weather Conditions For Battle

New Castle high school football team invaded the hills of Altoona Saturday and found lurking in the confines a snarling Mountain Lion football team, representing Altoona high school, with the will to win and they did, to the tune of 6 to 0 at Mansion field, under perfect weather conditions and with 9,000 fans, probably 500 from New Castle, in the stands.

The defeat, a heartbreaker for New Castle after four previous triumphs this season, two in class AA puts the Phil Bredenbaugh machine out of the running for class AA honors this year coming just at a time when New Castle seemed destined to arise to the pinnacle in schoolboy circles that they held for a number of years.

Inspired Altoona Team

It was an inspired Altoona team that refused to be awed by the four-game winning streak of New Castle and by the 90 points that the local lad run up against Grove City, Butler, Youngstown East and Sharon.

Altoona scored the winning touchdown in the third period on a 20-yard pass to a 57-yard line. In just two plays, the first a two-yard gain by Ray Prosperi then a pass Mathewson to Prosperi over the goal line, did the trick. Altoona tried a pass

Grid Yardstick

Team	Points	Yards	First Downs	Interceptions	Penalties	Fumbles	Time of Possession
New Castle	0	0	0	0	0	0	1:00
Altoona	6	100	15	0	0	0	2:30 for the extra point and it was held down by a New Castle player.

New Castle Stopped
New Castles famed offensive attack that had swept previous opponents off their feet with their dazzling speed and fast breaks failed to daunt the Altoona Lions who stopped everything that New Castle tried except for a brief period in the third quarter when New Castle, following the lead of the Mountain Lion, started a drive from their own yard line that carried them in a series of plays to the Altoona 23, at which point Walt Smith, the quarterback, attempting to pass, was intercepted by Altoona.

In the second period New Castle's powerful line started off an Altoona bid for a touchdown when Altoona took possession of the ball on the 14 to start the second period. Altoona completed a 16-yard pass, Prosperi to Marks. Following which Prosperi dashed through the New Castle line.
